

Mrs Wordsmith's STAY AT HOME

FAMILY

WORD

GAMES

FOR THE DINNER TABLE, ZOOM AND HOUSE PARTY

You can play this game alone as a family (it's a good one for the dinner table) or you can play it on Zoom or House Party. We've written down 60 funny sentences about the world that you can use to get you started. The aim of the game is for each player to read their sentences as part of the conversation without being caught.

HOW TO PLAY

★ MINIMUM 3 PEOPLE ★

It's super easy. Cut out the sentences or write them down on individual strips of paper. Then, place a strip face down under each person's plate (no one peek!) You may want to cut out 20 and put them in a hat so you aren't tempted to cheat yourself (or, remove yourself from the game if you have enough extra people to play).

EXAMPLE:

Your sentence is...

If I had to live on one food, it would be blueberries.

WEAVING IT IN...

"THIS DINNER IS DELICIOUS,
BUT IF I HAD TO LIVE
ON ONE FOOD, IT WOULD BE BLUEBERRIES."

Each person has to weave their sentence into the conversation without anyone knowing they used it. For example, "This dinner is delicious, but if I had to live on one food, it would be blueberries." If somebody else catches them, they're out. (They should still participate in the dinner conversation, but they can't win the game.)
